Affirmations

Helping you to create the abundance you deserve!

Hi, this is Isha here. I have written down several affirmations for you to use. Look over them and pick out the ones that resonate with you the most.

It is important to select the ones that make you feel good because it's the FEELING we want to pay attention to.

We want to get these affirmations deeply embedded into your subconscious mind. Remember, when you first use some of these affirmations, they might seem a bit far-fetched and like you are telling yourself a lie, but keep on using them. In a week or so you will be rattling them off without even thinking. Your subconscious will have accepted them as truth.

Before you begin using these affirmations, I would like you to take a moment to sit down and picture something that you really love. Think back to a time when you had fun, fun, fun, you felt happy, free and totally loved.

Now I want you to think about how you felt at this time. Feel this feeling again, feel the warmth inside. See yourself lighting up from the inside out. Feel how great you felt. I want you to remember this feeling, imprint this feeling into your subconscious mind and when you say your affirmations, remember to connect to this warm, loving feeling.

When you do this, you will be raising your vibration, connecting to the universe and attracting what you want into your life.
